There's exciting news next week, pals—about a Free Gift for YOU!

Back in 1966

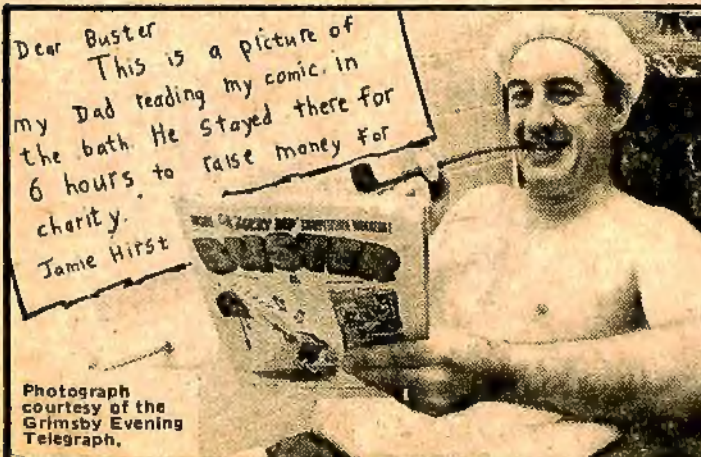

BUSTER looked like this...

This week our oldtime Buster cover is from the year 1966. Now here are some of the memorable events from that time.

- The F.A. Cup went to Everton that year and the World Cup went missing! It was later discovered under a bush by a dog named Pickles. England went on to win the trophy, beating West Germany 4 – 2 after extra time. See if Dad can name the English team for you?
- Oxford won the boat race, beating Cambridge for the second time in succession.
- The Beatles gave their last public performance at Wembley Stadium. Other top groups of the time had strange sounding names like – The Kinks, The Troggs, The Animals and The Zombies.
- The "Swinging Sixties" were in full swing. Girls' mini skirts were getting shorter and fellas' hair was getting longer.
- Carnaby Street in London became the fashion centre of the world. Military uniforms were very popular at the time.
- A very famous racehorse of the time named Arkle broke a bone in his foot. So popular was he, that hundreds of "get well" cards were sent to him from all over the world.

NEXT WEEK: A PEEP INTO 1967

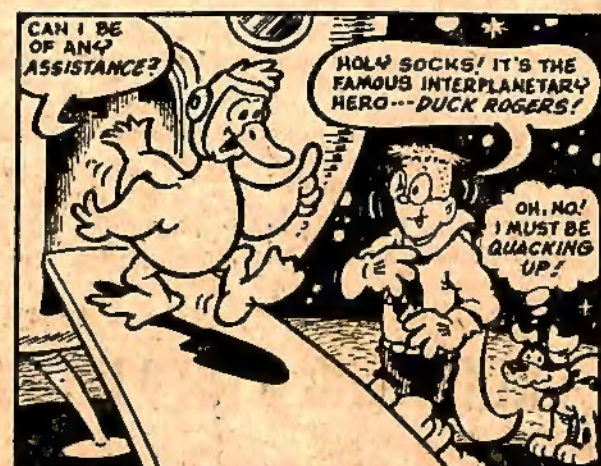

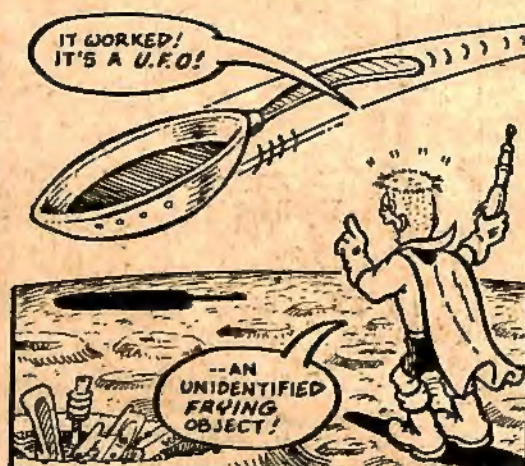

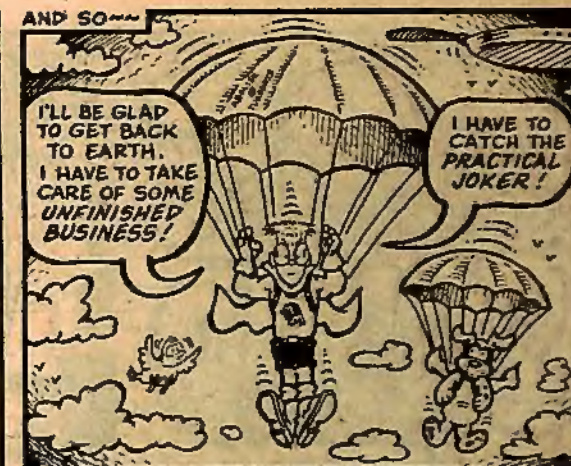

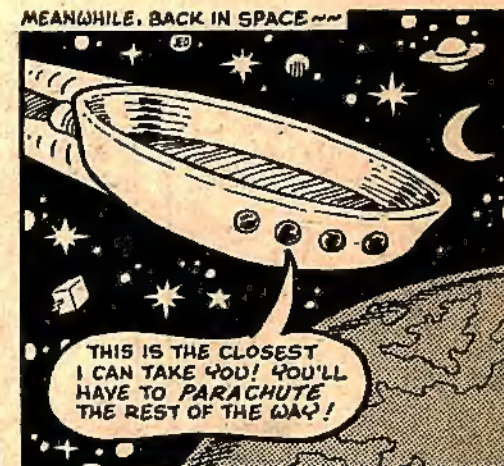

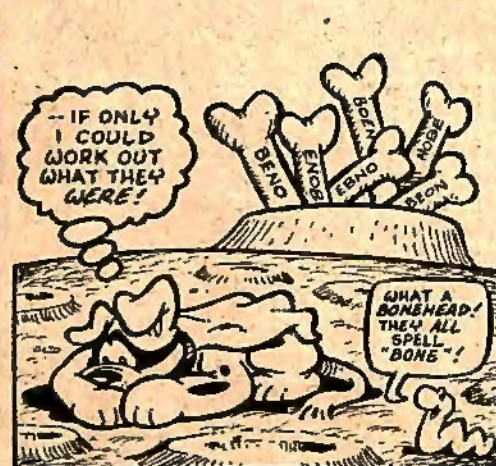

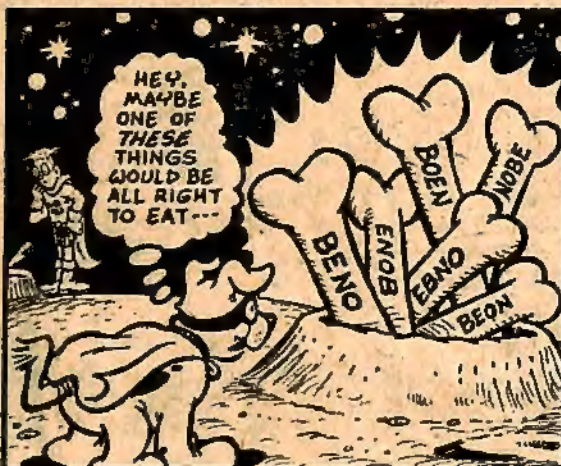

Will this make Jamie our CHAMPION READER?

HE'S IN WITH A GOOD CHANCE, for there can't be many readers with a Dad who has taken a 6-hour bath with a copy of BUSTER for company – he raised £120 for the Sheffield Area Kidney Association, too! Who knows WHAT the winner's qualifications will finally turn out to be? – someone who draws BUSTER characters superbly? – someone whose whole family read BUSTER every week? Come on, you would-be Champions, let's be hearing from you! Send to BUSTER'S CHAMPION READER, Room 2010, King's Reach Tower, Stamford Street, London SE1 9LS.
